TRADE MARKS ACT 1994

IN THE MATTER OF APPLICATION NO. 3995256
IN THE NAME OF BINTOU SERAY NJIE NJIE
TO REGISTER THE FOLLOWING TRADE MARK:

IN CLASS 3

AND

IN THE MATTER OF OPPOSITION THERETO
UNDER NO. 600003205
BY DAVID OLUSEGUN

Background and pleadings

1. Bintou Seray Njie Njie (“the applicant”) applied to register the trade mark on the front page of this decision (“the applicant’s mark”) in the UK on 22 December 2023, under number 3995256. It was accepted and published in the Trade Marks Journal on 12 January 2024 in respect of the following goods:

Class 3: Hair cosmetics; Hair shampoos; Hair shampoo; Hairstyling serums; Hair moisturisers; Hair moisturizers; Shampoo; Non-medicated hair shampoos; Shampoos; Hair serums; Hair moisturising conditioners; Hair pomades; Hair conditioner; Hair lotions; Hair care serums; Hair balms; Hair conditioners; Hair emollients; Hair nourishers; Hair care creams [for cosmetic use]; Cosmetics for the use on the hair; Cosmetics; Hair care creams; Hair creams; Hair balm; Hair oils; Oils for hair conditioning; Cosmetic hair care preparations; Hair conditioner bars; Beard oil; Hair oil; Beard balm; Bar soap; Shampoo bars; Bars of soap; Conditioners for use on the hair; Conditioners for treating the hair; Hair mascara; Hair grooming preparations; Lavender oil; Hair fixing oil.

2. On 21 February 2024, David Olusegun (“the opponent”) opposed the trade mark on the basis of section 5(2)(b) of the Trade Marks Act 1994 (“the Act”). The opposition is directed against all the goods of the application.

3. The opponent relies upon his UK trade mark number 3308113, MANSA (“the opponent’s mark”). The opponent’s mark was filed on 02 May 2018 and became registered on 27 July 2018. It stands registered for a large range of goods in class 3 as shown in Annex A.

4. As the filing date of the opponent’s mark is earlier than the filing date of the applicant’s mark, the opponent’s mark constitutes an earlier mark in accordance with section 6 of the Act. It had been registered for more than five years at the filing date of the applicant’s mark and is, therefore, subject to the use requirements in section 6A of the Act.

5. By virtue of filing the opposition under section 5(2)(b), the opponent argues that its goods are identical or similar to the applicant’s goods, and that the competing marks are similar, resulting in a likelihood of confusion.

6. The applicant filed a counterstatement denying the grounds of opposition. It also indicated that it would require the opponent to provide proof of use of its mark.

7. Neither the applicant nor the opponent is professionally represented. A hearing was not requested but both parties filed written submissions in lieu. This decision is taken following a careful perusal of the papers, keeping all submissions in mind.

Preliminary issues

i) Fast-track opposition

8. The opponent originally opposed the application by way of the fast-track procedure. However, in the letter issued on 20 May 2024, the parties were informed that as the opponent had not provided sufficient information on its Form TM7F nor provided proof of use, the opposition could not proceed as a fast-track opposition. On this basis, it invoked Rule 62(1)(j) of the Trade Mark Rules 2008 to convert the fast-track proceedings into a standard opposition.

ii) Specification

9. The opponent originally indicated in his statement of grounds that he intended to rely on all of his goods in class 3. However, he was unable to identify the goods which the mark had been used on in relation to the specific goods for which the mark is registered. The amended statements of grounds filed on 3 March 2024 and 12 August 2024 contained a number of terms in class 3 for which the mark is not registered. On 3 September 2024, the opponent was asked to file an amended statement of grounds by 10 September 2024, but nothing was filed. On 11 October 2024, the Registry issued a preliminary view that the opponent could only proceed with the only correct term listed within the opponent's registration, namely perfumery. Neither party responded to the preliminary view, so on 25 November 2024, the Registry confirmed that the opposition would proceed on the basis that the opponent only relies on the term "perfumery" in class 3.

Relevance of EU law

10. The provisions of the Act relied upon in these proceedings are assimilated law, as they are derived from EU law. Although the UK has left the EU, section 6(3)(a) of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 (as amended by Schedule 2 of the Retained EU Law (Revocation and Reform) Act 2023) requires tribunals applying assimilated law to follow assimilated EU case law. That is why this decision refers to decisions of the EU courts which predate the UK's withdrawal from the EU.

Evidence

11. The opponent's evidence consists of a statement of use and one exhibit (Exhibit 1). The statement of use is provided by the opponent himself, David Olusegun, and is dated 18 March 2025. Mr Olusegun provides evidence of use of the opponent's mark.

12. I have taken all the evidence into account in reaching my decision and will refer to it below where necessary.

Proof of use

13. Section 6A of the Act reads as follows:

“(1) This section applies where –

- (a) an application for registration of a trade mark has been published,
- (b) there is an earlier trade mark of a kind falling within section 6(1)(a), (aa) or (ba) in relation to which the conditions set out in section 5(1), (2) or (3) obtain, and
- (c) the registration procedure for the earlier trade mark was completed before the start of the relevant period.

(1A) In this section “the relevant period” means the period of 5 years ending with the date of the application for registration mentioned in subsection (1)(a) or (where applicable) the date of the priority claimed for that application.

(2) In opposition proceedings, the registrar shall not refuse to register the trade mark by reason of the earlier trade mark unless the use conditions are met.

(3) The use conditions are met if –

(a) within the relevant period the earlier trade mark has been put to genuine use in the United Kingdom by the proprietor or with his consent in relation to the goods or services for which it is registered, or

(b) the earlier trade mark has not been so used, but there are proper reasons for non- use.

(4) For these purposes –

(a) use of a trade mark includes use in a form (the “variant form”) differing in elements which do not alter the distinctive character of the mark in the form in which it was registered (regardless of whether or not the trade mark in the variant form is also registered in the name of the proprietor), and

(b) use in the United Kingdom includes affixing the trade mark to goods or to the packaging of goods in the United Kingdom solely for export purposes.

(5)-(5A) [Repealed]

(6) Where an earlier trade mark satisfies the use conditions in respect of some only of the goods or services for which it is registered, it shall be treated for the purposes of this section as if it were registered only in respect of those goods or services.

14. Pursuant to the above provisions, the relevant period for assessing whether there has been genuine use of the opponent’s mark is the five-year period ending with the filing date of the applicant’s mark, i.e. 23 December 2018 to 22 December 2023.

15. In *easyGroup Ltd v Nuclei Ltd & Ors*¹, Arnold LJ summarised the law relating to genuine use as follows:

“105. The principles applicable to determining whether there has been genuine use of a trade mark have been considered by the CJEU in a considerable number of cases, the principal decisions being Case C-40/01 Ansul BV v Ajax

Brandbeveiliging BV [2003] ECR I-2439, Case C-259/02 La Mer Technology Inc v Laboratories Goemar SA [2004] ECR I-1159, Case C-416/04 P Sunrider Corp v Office for Harmonisation in the Internal Market (Trade Marks and Designs) [2006] ECR I-4237, Case C-442/07 Verein Radetsky-Order v Bunderversvereinigung Kamaradschaft 'Feldmarschall Radetsky' [2008] ECR I9223, Case C-495/07 Silberquelle GmbH v Maselli-Strickmode GmbH [2009] ECR I-2759, Case C-149/11 Leno Merken BV v Hagelkruis Beheer BV [EU:C:2012:816], Case C-609/11 Centrotherm Systemtechnik GmbH v Centrotherm Clean Solutions GmbH & Co KG [EU:C:2013:592], Case C-141/13 P Reber Holding & Co KG v Office for Harmonisation in the Internal Market (Trade Marks and Designs) [EU:C:2014:2089], Case C-689/15 W.F. Gözze Frottierweberei GmbH v Verein Bremer Baumwollbörse [EU:C:2017:434] and Joined Cases C-720/18 and C-721/18 Ferrari SpA v DU [EU:C:2020:854].

106. Ignoring issues which do not arise in the present case, such as use in relation to spare parts or second-hand goods and use in relation to a sub-category of goods or services, the principles may be summarised as follows:

(1) Genuine use means actual use of the trade mark by the proprietor or by a third party with authority to use the mark: Ansul at [35] and [37].

(2) The use must be more than merely token, that is to say, serving solely to preserve the rights conferred by the registration of the mark: Ansul at [36]; Sunrider at [70]; Verein at [13]; Centrotherm at [71]; Leno at [29]; Ferrari at [32].

(3) The use must be consistent with the essential function of a trade mark, which is to guarantee the identity of the origin of the goods or services to the consumer or end user by enabling him to distinguish the goods or services from others which have another origin: Ansul at [36]; Sunrider at [70]; Verein at [13]; Silberquelle at [17]; Centrotherm at [71]; Leno at [29]; Gözze at [37], [40]; Ferrari at [32].

(4) Use of the mark must relate to goods or services which are already marketed or which are about to be marketed and for which preparations to secure customers are under way, particularly in the form of advertising campaigns: Ansul at [37]. Internal use by the proprietor does not suffice: Ansul at [37];

Verein at [14]. Nor does the distribution of promotional items as a reward for the purchase of other goods and to encourage the sale of the latter: Silberquelle at [20]-[21]. But use by a non-profit making association can constitute genuine use: Verein at [16]-[23].

(5) The use must be by way of real commercial exploitation of the mark on the market for the relevant goods or services, that is to say, use in accordance with the commercial raison d'être of the mark, which is to create or preserve an outlet for the goods or services that bear the mark: Ansul at [37]-[38]; Verein at [14]; Silberquelle at [18]; Centrotherm at [71].

(6) All the relevant facts and circumstances must be taken into account in determining whether there is real commercial exploitation of the mark, including: (a) whether such use is viewed as warranted in the economic sector concerned to maintain or create a share in the market for the goods and services in question; (b) the nature of the goods or services; (c) the characteristics of the market concerned; (d) the scale and frequency of use of the mark; (e) whether the mark is used for the purpose of marketing all the goods and services covered by the mark or just some of them; (f) the evidence that the proprietor is able to provide; and (g) the territorial extent of the use: Ansul at [38] and [39]; La Mer at [22]-[23]; Sunrider at [70]-[71], [76]; Centrotherm at [72]-[76]; Reber at [29], [32]-[34]; Leno at [29]-[30], [56]; Ferrari at [33].

(7) Use of the mark need not always be quantitatively significant for it to be deemed genuine. Even minimal use may qualify as genuine use if it is deemed to be justified in the economic sector concerned for the purpose of creating or preserving market share for the relevant goods or services. For example, use of the mark by a single client which imports the relevant goods can be sufficient to demonstrate that such use is genuine, if it appears that the import operation has a genuine commercial justification for the proprietor. Thus there is no de minimis rule: Ansul at [39]; La Mer at [21], [24] and [25]; Sunrider at [72]; Leno at [55].

(8) It is not the case that every proven commercial use of the mark may automatically be deemed to constitute genuine use: Reber at [32].”

16. Moreover, section 100 of the Act states that:

“If in any civil proceedings under this Act a question arises as to the use to which a registered trade mark has been put, it is for the proprietor to show what use has been made of it.”

17. In the statement of use, Mr Olusegun did not state where the mark had been used. However, I note in the amended statement of grounds filed on 12 August 2024 that Mr Olusegun indicated at Q8 that the mark had been used throughout the UK.

18. Exhibit 1 contains 15 pages of images. In the statement of use, Mr Olusegun explains that the images comprise a “deck” which shows the primary, secondary, and logo versions of his mark. It also shows the packaging of his products, the fonts used in conjunction with his branding, and a picture of a billboard bearing his mark within a composite logo mark. In his statement of grounds, the turnover figure was given as £85,000. In his statement of use, Mr Olusegun says that the mark has been used in relation to “hair products”, “face creams”, “body creams”, and “beard oil and creams”.

Forms of the mark

19. Throughout in the images within Exhibit 1, the word MANSA mark appears in the following manner:

20. It is my view that that stylisation of the MANSA mark is an acceptable variant. Whilst the typeface is reasonably stylised in relation to the lowercase letter “a”, I am of the view that it does not alter the distinctive character of the MANSA mark because the word would still be read by the average consumer as the word “MANSA”. In *Dreamersclub Ltd v KTS Group Ltd*², Mr Philip Johnson, as the Appointed Person, found that the use of the DREAMS mark qualified as use of the registered word-only mark DREAMS. because the stylisation of the word did not alter the distinctive character of the word mark. Rather, it constituted an expression of the registered word mark in normal and fair use on the basis that “the fact it has been presented in what might be called a cursive typeface and not as a plain word mark must be disregarded” [14]. I find this to be the same in the immediate case, notwithstanding the higher degree of stylisation to the letter “a”. I therefore find that the stylised version of the MANSA mark is an acceptable variant of the registered mark.

21. Other images within Exhibit 1 show the mark as a composite mark (referred to as “the secondary logo” by the opponent) in the following manner:

22. In *Colloseum Holdings AG v Levi Strauss & Co.*³, which concerned the use of one mark with, or as part of, another mark, the Court of Justice of the European Union (“CJEU”) found that:

“31. It is true that the ‘use’ through which a sign acquires a distinctive character under Article 7(3) of Regulation No 40/94 relates to the period before its registration as a trade mark, whereas ‘genuine use’, within the meaning of Article 15(1) of that regulation, relates to a five-year period following registration and, accordingly, ‘use’ within the meaning of Article 7(3) for the purpose of registration may not be relied on as such to establish ‘use’ within the meaning of Article 15(1) for the purpose of preserving the rights of the proprietor of the registered trade mark.

32. Nevertheless, as is apparent from paragraphs 27 to 30 of the judgment in Nestlé, the ‘use’ of a mark, in its literal sense, generally encompasses both its independent use and its use as part of another mark taken as a whole or in conjunction with that other mark.

33. As the German and United Kingdom Governments pointed out at the hearing before the Court, the criterion of use, which continues to be fundamental, cannot be assessed in the light of different considerations according to whether the issue to be decided is whether use is capable of giving rise to rights relating to a mark or of ensuring that such rights are preserved. If it is possible to acquire trade mark protection for a sign through a specific use made of the sign, that same form of use must also be capable of ensuring that such protection is preserved.

34. Therefore, the requirements that apply to verification of the genuine use of a mark, within the meaning of Article 15(1) of Regulation No 40/94, are analogous to those concerning the acquisition by a sign of distinctive character through use for the purpose of its registration, within the meaning of Article 7(3) of the regulation.

35. Nevertheless, as pointed out by the German Government, the United Kingdom Government and the European Commission, a registered trade mark that is used only as part of a composite mark or in conjunction with another mark must continue to be perceived as indicative of the origin of the product at issue for that use to be covered by the term 'genuine use' within the meaning of Article 15(1)." (emphasis added)

23. As use of a mark encompasses independent use and use as part of another mark taken as a whole, or in conjunction with that other mark, I find that this use of the mark is also an acceptable variant.

Assessment of the evidence

24. As the case law cited above makes clear, genuine use requires that "the use must be by way of real commercial exploitation of the mark on the market for the relevant goods”⁴. I find that the evidence before me does not establish such use in relation to perfumery for the reasons set out below.

25. Firstly, Exhibit 1 does not appear to show anything in relation to perfumery goods. I note that the statement of use refers to use of the mark in relation to a number of goods such as hair products, face creams, body creams, and beard oil. However, as previously explained, the opponent had already been informed that the opposition would only proceed in relation to perfumery. Exhibit 1 shows images of packaging bearing an acceptable variant of the opponent’s mark for face creams and pore cleansers. There is also an image of three unpackaged products, namely face cream, facewash, and pore cleanser. However, I cannot see any images which demonstrate use of the mark on perfume-related goods.

26. In addition to this, the evidence must establish that use of the mark must fall within the relevant period (being 23 December 2018 to 22 December 2023). However, all of the images in Exhibit 1 are undated. I am therefore unable to tell if such evidence constitutes examples of, or is representative of, the way that the opponent’s mark was used in the relevant period.

27. Furthermore, there is nothing within the evidence that demonstrates the scale of use. There are no invoices to show sales figures of goods bearing the opponent’s mark. Although the opponent also did not enter any information regarding sales on the statement of use, I note that, in the amended statement of grounds submitted on 12 August 2024, the opponent entered the figure “£85,000” as the number of sales achieved under the mark during the relevant period. However, there are no further details as to the size of the relevant market or the share of that market held by goods bearing the opponent’s mark. On the face of it, the figure of £85,000 provided for the entire five-year period seems very small in the context of the UK market for perfumery, which I understand to be very large. In addition to this, there is no information in relation to how widespread across the UK the sales were, what proportion of it is for each good relied upon, or how those sales were spread across the relevant period.

28. Exhibit 1 also contains a billboard poster which bears the opponent’s mark. However, there are no further details to provide any context to the photo, such as where this billboard was placed or when it was used. Furthermore, there are no details as to the opponent's spend on marketing activities to promote the mark in the UK. It is therefore not possible to understand the extent to which the average consumer of the goods in the UK has been exposed to the opponent's mark.

29. According to the authorities cited above show, use does not need to be quantitatively significant for it to be considered genuine. However, I find that the evidence before me is significantly lacking in demonstrating real commercial exploitation of the mark in relation to the goods. Therefore, taking the evidential picture as a whole, the opponent has failed to establish genuine use in relation to the goods relied upon in the relevant period. Consequently, the opponent cannot rely upon his earlier mark under sections 5(2)(b) of the Act and the opposition therefore fails. Even if the opponent was not limited to reliance on perfumery, and I was considering the position in respect of the goods he identified in his statement of use, I would have reached the same conclusion; the evidence is not sufficient for the purposes of demonstrating that the opponent has attempted to create a market for those goods under his mark.

Final remarks

30. The opposition under section 5(2)(b) has failed its entirety. Subject to any successful appeal, the application will proceed to registration.

Costs

31. The applicant has been successful and is entitled to a contribution towards its costs. As a matter of practice, unrepresented parties are asked to complete a costs proforma if they intend to make a claim for costs. One was filed by the applicant on 13 June 2025. There is no right to be awarded the amount claimed. This is subject to an assessment of the reasonableness of the claim. The Tribunal awards costs on a contributory, not compensatory, basis, and therefore account must be taken of this when assessing the claim made. It should be noted that a person who represents themselves is entitled to a standard rate of £19 per hour⁵ in line with part 46 of the Civil Procedure Rules⁶ for time reasonably spent on recoverable activities.

32. I note that, within her costs proforma, the applicant has claimed a total of eight hours in relation to these proceedings. This comprises two and a half hours for filing a notice of defence and considering the forms filed by the opponent, four hours spent on preparing her written submissions and considering the opponent's evidence. She has also claimed a further one and a half hours under 'other expenses' and has specified that this time was spent on researching procedural guidance, reviewing case law on proof of use, and preparing cost breakdowns.

33. I find that these figures are wholly reasonable. I appreciate that the applicant would have taken time to review the opponent's Form TM7F, conduct research and write the notice of defence, so I am of the view that spending two and a half hours on these activities is proportionate. She claims four hours for reviewing IPO correspondence and the opponent's evidence, and also preparing written submissions. Whilst the submissions are reasonably brief, I appreciate that an unrepresented party would take longer to prepare and consider documents than a solicitor or trade mark attorney. I therefore find that the four hours spent on these activities is also reasonable. The applicant also claims one and a half hours on other activities. I find that it is reasonable that an unrepresented applicant who is unfamiliar with the law would need to spend time reviewing case law on proof of use, given its relevance in these proceedings. Furthermore, I recognise that there were a number of procedural issues with this case relating to the opponent's pleadings, and it is my view that it is reasonable that the applicant will have spent time reviewing these issues to understand them better. I therefore find that it is reasonable and proportionate that the applicant spent one and a half hours on these activities.

34. The total sum is calculated as follows:

Considering the opponent's statement and preparing a counterstatement: £47.50

⁵ Whilst I acknowledge that costs for litigants in person have increased to £24 per hour, that is for any work conducted on or after 1 October 2025. As the time spent by the applicant on defending these proceedings all came before that date, the previous rate applies, i.e. £19 per hour.

⁶ Rule 46.5(4)(b), Practice Direction 46.5 paragraph (3.4)

Considering the other side's evidence and preparing submissions-in-lieu: £76

Other expenses: £28.50

35. I therefore order David Olusegun to pay Bintou Seray Njie Njie the sum of £152. The above sum should be paid within twenty-one days of the expiry of the appeal period or, if there is an appeal, within twenty-one days of the conclusion of the appeal proceedings.
